Introduction to Christian Theology
SAH - TH500, Fall Semester
September-November 2019
Tuesday 9-12 noon

Richard R. Topping
VST Room 401
Principal’s Office: 604-822-9808
Email: richardt@vst.edu

Purpose:
The purpose of this course is to further reflective understanding and appropriation of major Christian teachings in loving engagement with God and the world in the context of the contemporary church. It treats principally central themes of Christian doctrinal reflection (e.g., revelation, scripture, Trinity, creation, sin, Christ, reconciliation, Holy Spirit, church and hope) as well as contemporary critiques and reformulations of the faith in the light of the ordered and sanctified components of Christian theological expression (Scripture, tradition, experience and reason). The goal of the course is doxological: to learn to praise God who is revealed in Jesus Christ in the power of the Holy Spirit.

Competence Objectives:
In completing this course, a student will be able to:

(1) Describe and relate central doctrinal themes of the Church universal. Students will acquire fluency in the language surrounding sites of perennial Christian discussion and become alert to the systematic (inter-implications) of doctrinal loci.

(2) Differentiate between some major streams of Christian theological reflection. Students will be reading in different theological traditions and so acquire the ability to distinguish between them and to articulate what is at stake in their differences.

(3) Deploy theological language to interpret, construct, challenge, reform and recontextualize. Students will acquire fluency in doctrinal language in order to interpret by means of it. First conceptual language is learned and then students will learn to interpret by means of this language. While theology is always written in a context and influenced by it, theological endeavour also seeks to depict what the context is; that is, to discern what God is doing and some shapes of faithful response.
(4) Deliberately misread our culture (time and place) in the light of the Gospel in the service of the triune God, the love of the neighbour and the world.

Format:

This class meets for three hours a week over 11 weeks. The primary format will be lecture including discussion of questions raised by the student’s close reading of required texts.

Expectations/Evaluation:

(1) Class attendance and preparation of all required reading before class.

(2) A one-page summary of the material read for each class. This page should engage a theme that runs through the readings and say what difference it makes to the church and the world. It is due for the class for which the material is read.

(3) A paraphrase of the Apostles’ Creed of six pages in length. This paraphrase should work at unpacking the content of the creed, as though you were doing so in the context of an adult study group (or you can imagine yourself offering a description to an inquirer re. the general outline of Christian confession). It should draw on readings and class material and address five major themes of the course; a bibliography of at least five resources beyond class reading should be included. Deadline: Monday December 16, 2018.

(4) A creed of your own that summarizes in six pages what you believe about five of the major themes of the content of the course. Students can include methods and sources of theological reflection as one theme. Students will not be evaluated on the “correctness” of their expressions, but on the lucid, careful and consistent articulation of the elements of their “creed” as a work in progress. A bibliography of at least five resources beyond class reading should be included. You should also draw on assigned class reading. Deadline: Monday December 16, 2018.

Offsite Education Students:

Students taking this course by distance education will listen to the lectures either at the same time as the class or by means of recording. The link will be uploaded to canvas for those who will listen to recording.

The daily assignments are due according to the schedule indicated on the course outline. They must be emailed no later than 12 p.m. on the day of class to the professor at richardt@vst.edu
In the place of class discussion, an interactive component of online discussion will also be included for asynchronous students. This will take the form of a discussion string. Each week 1 student will post his/her one-page summary of a theme from the readings. All other students will post a response, of no more than 500 words and of no less than 300 words, which considers the following: (1) is it fair to the sources; (2) does it adequately address the theme and; (3) what could be added to make the piece more complete? Before the course begins a schedule of posts will be sent to asynchronous participants.

A phone call, at least one, with the Professor will be scheduled for all students who are not physically present in the class. This will give you opportunity to ask questions related to the course, although these are always in order via email.

Deadlines:

Submission of assignments on time is a part of academic, professional and pastoral competence and a part of every course at VST. All assignments in courses are due on the dates specified in the syllabus for each course. Failure to submit an assignment on time will be noted in the narrative evaluation of an assignment. Repeated failure to submit assignments on time will affect the final grade for the course. Two late assignments will result in a reduction of one letter grade for the course without legitimate excuse. Students registered for this course onsite are permitted no more than two absences. More than two absences will result in a loss of credit for the course.

Required Texts/Readings: The textbook is available at the UBC book store and on Amazon. It is your responsibility to secure a copy and come to the first class having read the readings for the day.

Rigby, Cynthia. Holding Faith: A Practical Introduction to Christian Doctrine
(Nashville: Abingdon, 2018)

During the summer you should read:

All of these books will be available at the UBC bookstore and Amazon.

All other course readings can be found on Canvas – access codes are provided with course registration.
Recommended Text:

McKim, Donald. Westminster Dictionary of Theological Terms. Louisville: Westminster/John Knox, 1996. (“This is an especially good resource since it provides short two or three sentence [not article length] definitions for theological terms). You will get great benefit from this resource for the whole of your theological education.

Course Schedule/Readings:

Week 1: September 10
The Task of Theology

Week 2: Sept. 17
The Meaning of Revelation

Week 3: Sept 24
The Authority and Interpretation of Scripture

HF, pp. 31-68.

Week 4: Oct 1
The Triune God

Week 5: Oct 8
The Good Creation and Providence

Week 6: October 15 Humanity, Evil and Sin

Week 7: October 22 - Reading Week, NO CLASS

Week 8: Oct 29 The Person and Work of Christ

Week 9: Nov 5 Christ, Context and Religious Pluralism

Week 10: Nov. 12 The Holy Spirit and the Christian Life

Week 11: Nov 19 Church, Proclamation, Ministry and Sacraments

Week 12: Nov 26 Hope for this Life and the Next

Select Bibliography:

Reference Works:

______. Westminster Dictionary of Theological Terms. Louisville: Westminster/John Knox, 1996. (*This is an especially good resource since it provides short two or three sentence [not article length] definitions for theological terms).

Introductions, Thematic and General and Import Contemporary Work in Theology:

Jenson, Robert W. A Theology in Outline: Can These Bones Live? Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2014

